Inventive Costume

Miguel Reyes

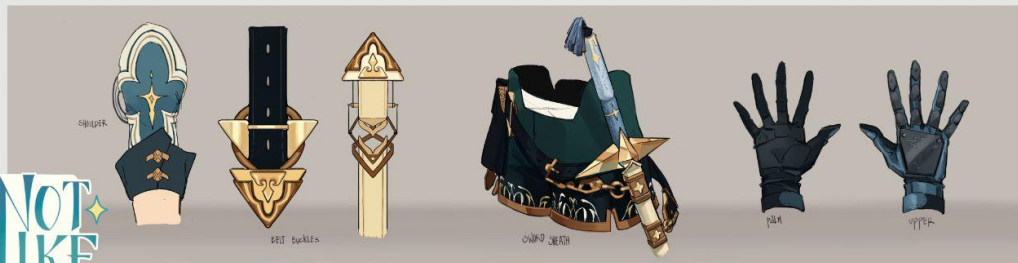

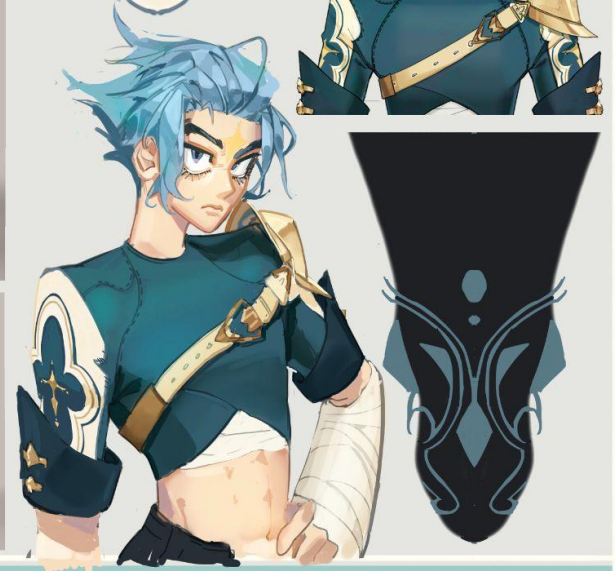

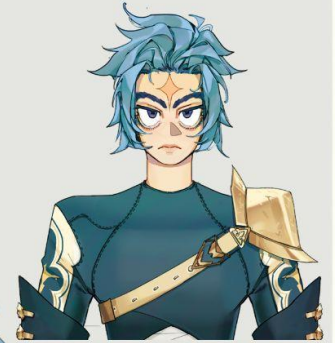

Dimensional Translator feild wear can differentiate between each user depending on their needs, yet stays consistant in ratio, balance, and color sheme. In uniform, feild outfits are made out of a combination of leather and metal to enhance movement and keep protection. For hito, his thighs and forearms are wrapped in layers of bandages (A significant characteristic) that enlarge at the wrists. He wears a thin glove on his right hand to wield his sword latched to his left hip. A shoulder plate sits on his left shoulder to counter balance protection with his right side sword weilding. Hito will have knee high boots, high rise shorts, and a cropped top with padded shoulders and loose arm cuffs.

Parada Details

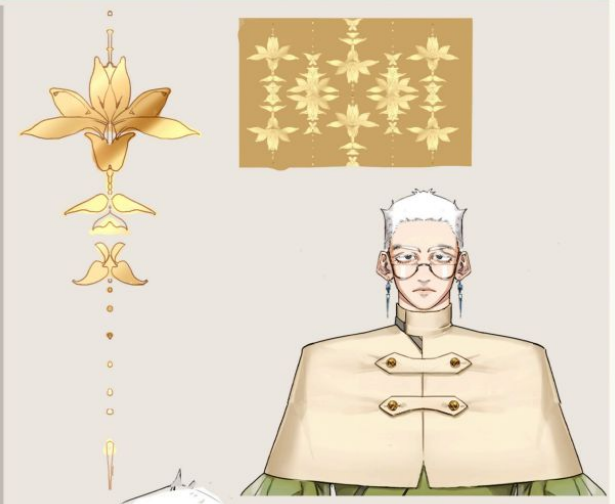

Guides do not have assigned uniforms for the field because it's not part of their job. Despite needing to understand emotions, the personality of guides can still vary. Parada on the other hand, is a calm and collected person however he can still be on par with hito's stubbornness. Just like Translators, there is customization of uniform between each person but only slight differences. All guides wear loose, airy and long clothing to emphasize the comfort that are assigned to give. They are either synced at the chest or the waist and include a tassel hanging down off to the side. The length of the skirt can vary from mid calf to under the knee. Matched with either slippers or boots.
